Accessing the API	1
Data Format	2
Response	3

Accessing the API

The API can be accessed by making a request to <https://data.statsbombservices.com/api/v4/competitions/?/seasons/?/team-stats>. The question marks should be replaced in order by the desired competition ID and season ID.

An R package has been written for users to conveniently access the API and clean the data. The R package is available at <https://github.com/statsbomb/StatsBombR>.

Data Format

The API data is read in JSON format, where each observation is one, unique event, with all variable values corresponding to that event and that event type included. Unlike the CSV format, JSON format allows for nested data frames, and thus, observations will never be replicated.

Response

The response will be in JSON format. The response is an array containing statistical information.
